WORST STORM OF THE SEASON IN HAMILTON

Four Accidents as a Result of the Weather Disturbance of Yesterday.

TRAFFIC TIED UP

Street and Suburban and
Also the Steam Railways
Suffered Somewhat.

The storm that held Hamilton in its grip yesterday afternoon and evening was the direct result of two gales meeting over the city, one from the north with an easterly cold wind and the other from the south with a warm westerly. The meeting of these two forces was responsible for the thunder and the lightning that was so much commented on was accounted for, by the weather officials, by an aurora. The display of light, they say must have been magnificent, but, unfortunately, the storm clouds enveloped it and beyond the flashes of lightning, citizens saw nothing of the great spectacle.

The storm disorganized the street and suburban service. George R. W. Walter, general superintendent of the street cars, reported that after the heavy traffic hours on the Brantford, the Radial and H. G. & B. lines, broke almost simultaneously and that it required some time to get the cars back into service. At no time was the power off, but the cars were run on manual control. The amount of snow and ice that had to be continually cleared away from the tracks and the street and the overhead wires. The inclines were not affected.

The telephone service was interrupted in this city, though many of the wires in London were reported down. The G. N. W. had no trouble, but the C. P. R. telegraph had three wires down between this city and Buffalo. This did not interfere with the service to that city or to the other end of the line. The company had ten wires running to each of these cities.

Catastrophe and Hydro lights burned all night. Engineer Rifton, of the Hydro, stated that there was a considerable amount of fluctuation in the amount of electricity that was used and that a number of wires were down in the city and in the bridge. These were quickly fixed and no one was inconvenienced by the company's service out that way in the winter.

Beach residents were appalled at the sight of the sea, which was so high and so wild. The thunder seemed to keep up a roar and the lightning flashed constantly. There was a heavy sea on, and this morning the sea broke in an awe-inspiring way on the beach. The sea was so high that it was almost impossible to get to the beach. The sea was so high that it was almost impossible to get to the beach.

Large number of accidents were reported. The most serious was a collision between a street car and a horse-drawn carriage. The street car was running on the tracks and the horse-drawn carriage was crossing the tracks. The collision resulted in the death of the driver of the horse-drawn carriage.

John Collard, 101 Young street, at 103 feet in front of 211 Young street, was struck by a car. He was taken to the hospital and died. The car was driven by a man who was not identified.

About 9:30 car No. 464 ran into a car and entered at the corner of Main and James street. The car was driven by a man who was not identified. The car was damaged and the driver was injured.

GRAIN PRICES MOVING UP

Some Experts Think Advance Will Not Hold.

More Confidence Shown in Stocks in U. S.

(Specialized by Tompkins, Forwood & Co., Merchants' Bank Bldg.)

Chicago, March 7.—The unexpected sharp advance in grain yesterday, traders were all fixed for a trade, but it was sharp and short. There has been evidence of accumulation of all grains on breaks of late and of decreased pressure. Wheat at the high point yesterday was 8 cents from the low of last Friday. Corn up 4-1/2 cents and oats 3 cents. Most traders considered this sufficient for the present, as most of the big local shorts have covered. Export houses here and at the seaboard yesterday. A few of the cash handlers reported an inquiry of wheat from the seaboard—Chicago.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

Barley—Grain for the time being we prefer merely a trading attitude in wheat market. In making short sale it seems quite evident that favorable opportunities will present themselves, and we are not buying against present sharp sales on weak spots. The corn market shows good selling power and all depressions, but we would not buy it on upturns such as that yesterday. We see nothing bullish in wheat.

Harris Withrop—Barley a serious crop scare we do not think there is any chance of a market will be made. Ware & Leland—The wheat market exhibits a strong reaction and purchases on recessions seems the likely policy. Price of oats may have the recent average level.

Finley Barrell—Advice sales of wheat on all upturns. Any favorable change in the market will lead to lower prices for corn. Out acreage this year will show a large increase, this along with the fact that carry-over should result in lower prices.

Interior Commission Co.—We look to see wheat market much higher. Grain in store—Wheat 1,200,000, increase 100,000; corn 1,200,000, increase 100,000; last year 1,000,000.

STOCK OPINIONS.

Thompson & McKinnon—Market showed up for some time. Would not be surprised to see further rally. Finley Barrell—Grain is ripe for a sharp advance at this time. We advise purchases on good recessions and would take profits on part of hold.

Wheat & Leland—We continue advice purchases on good recessions and would take profits on part of hold. Twelve industries up 1.77; 20 rails up 49.

PROHIBITION MEASURE STRENGTHENED PROPOSITION FOR DOMINION WIDE PROHIBITION OF IMPORTATION, MANUFACTURE AND SALE OF LIQUOR.

OTTAWA, March 6.—It looks as if Parliament will pass some strongly prohibitive measure at its present session. That seemed to be the feeling at midnight when the House rose after an all-day debate on the resolution of Mr. H. H. Stevens and Hon. Charles Maclellan calling for the Dominion-wide total prohibition of the importation, manufacture and sale of all intoxicating beverages until the end of the war. The temper of the majority of the members was strongly in favor of the measure, and, backed by strong sentiment from all the provinces, the Parliamentary benches back benches and front benches—were in their niches and appeared to be determined to carry through the proposal in its entirety.

The Cabinet, like the membership, was evidently divided. Sir George Foster, Premier, and Mr. Stevens, who spoke with time and again, repeated the same arguments, and Mr. Stevens, who spoke with time and again, repeated the same arguments, and Mr. Stevens, who spoke with time and again, repeated the same arguments.

AN AMENDMENT PROBABLE.

In the mean time, it is probable that Mr. N. B. Bennett will submit an amendment embodying the view of the majority of the Cabinet. This amendment, it is understood will have Government backing, and make a bid for support to those members who tonight seem strongly inclined to support the full test of the measure. Stevens-Maclellan measure, it will provide that where any Province has enacted prohibition to the extent of its constitutional power and that such prohibition is supplemented by the Federal authority, the Dominion shall take such steps as are necessary to make that prohibition as effective as other words, the Dominion will, in each case, prohibit the importation, manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the Province.

Whether the Government will be able to muster sufficient support to carry this amendment, is tonight uncertain. Nevertheless, although the issue is not a party issue, the lines are tightly drawn, and the party with few exceptions, is in opposition was expressed during the day by men on both sides to the idea of reviving the issue relative to the Provinces, on the ground that they would be handicapped in enforcement while the manufacture and sale of liquor was permitted, and objection will probably be taken to the proposed amendment on the ground that it will leave open the importation from Provinces to Provinces, and also possibly the whole question of manufacture.

WAR MEASURE, WITH VOTE.

LATER.

Both Mr. Stevens and Hon. Mr. Maclellan in submitting the proposal, asked the enactment as a war measure. Hon. Mr. Maclellan urged its passage for three years, and the conclusion of the war and the early readjustment period immediately following. To meet this objection, the clause at the front should be amended so to the effect, both speakers stated their readiness to include a proviso under which a vote must be taken at the end of the period specified to insure the enforcement of the prohibitory enactment.

SPONSORED FROM OPPOSITE SIDES.

There were few preliminaries. The resolution which was submitted by Mr. H. H. Stevens, Vancouver, and Mr. Charles Maclellan, Toronto, was having its sponsors from both sides of the House—called for the complete prohibition of the manufacture, importation and sale of all intoxicating liquors during the war, on the ground of "materially aiding the conservation of the wealth and resources of the Dominion and the reduction of the cost of the war." Premier Borden rose to say that representatives of the Dominion Alliance had been consulted, and that the Government and undertakes to furnish information as to the laws in force in each of the provinces, and the important information, some of this information had been received and is being given.

Mr. Speaker Selwyn stated that Mr. H. H. Stevens, Vancouver, and Mr. Charles Maclellan, Toronto, had submitted another resolution which it was desired to discuss in the same session. This resolution was to empower the Provincial Legislatures, wherever they so desire, to deal with the prohibition of the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors, and to affect their respective provinces with each.

Mr. Charles Maclellan, second of the Dominion-wide prohibition resolution, protested against the Hottel resolution, leaving the matter to the provinces, being considered at the same time. "It is not possible to take two resolutions together," he said. "The resolution now before the House is the first to be put by the chair, and it is understood that the Hottel resolution is to be considered at a later date."

Mr. Speaker Selwyn took the view that Mr. Maclellan was right, and "consequently" submitted only the one resolution. The destinies not only of the British Empire were concerned in the urgent need of national and personal economy. In the House, the statement of Mr. Maclellan read extracts from speeches by Kitchener, Lloyd George, McKenna, and the message of His Majesty.

"If the civilian army at home cannot give up its whiskey when the war is at the front, it is driving us to the wall, then shame upon us. Can we go on in very shame, and waste our money in a year on our appetite, and ask the boys to enlist and fight our battles?"

RECKLESS WASTE UPON INTOXICANTS.

Mr. Maclellan characterized the use of intoxicants as a beverage at this time as "a reckless waste of money which is almost beyond calculation." During last year—1915—Canada had spent per capita $10.84 in liquors of all kinds, but Canada got no return in value. Mr. Maclellan read editorial from the Globe and quoted from the speech of Sir George Foster and Mr. N. W. Rowell.

It was little use, he declared, avoiding the moral question by handing over to the Provinces. So long as the manufacture and importation was not prohibited, the moral question remained. "Action by this Federal Government now is imperative," he said, "and the only way to do it is by a measure of total prohibition."

TRY PROHIBITION TILL END OF WAR.

"We have tried license for many years," he proceeded. "Why not try prohibition till the end of the war? We are prepared to have the people vote upon the measure as a permanent enactment at the end of the war, but the soldiers returned. If the electors then restored the license system it would not be believed that once the people had experienced the benefits of prohibition, they would ever repeat it. In the meantime it was a patriotic duty on the part of Parliament to enact this war-time measure."

Hon. Mr. Maclellan concluded by urging Parliament to pass the measure and enact his proposal for three years to cover the period of the war and the readjustment period, and the rest of the time, which offer to the electors or to its permanent application.

WEICHEL ATTACKS VIGOROUSLY.

Mr. William G. Weichel, North West Territories, was the only vigorous terms. God's law, he said, taught that the abuse of things was wrong. He said that the law of those "weaklings" who were really personally opposed to this agitation for prohibition was "a law of the devil." He said that the law of those "weaklings" who were really personally opposed to this agitation for prohibition was "a law of the devil." He said that the law of those "weaklings" who were really personally opposed to this agitation for prohibition was "a law of the devil."

GIVE SOLDIERS A CONFIRMING VOTE.

As to the objection raised that prohibition should not be brought on while thousands of the boys were away at the front, Mr. Stevens said that the Government had brought down the legislation covered by his resolution, and made provision for the soldiers the right to have liquor upon it as a permanent measure.

NATIONAL DUTY URGES HON.

Hon. Charles Maclellan made a eloquent appeal for the adoption of the resolution, and his earnest speech was frequently interrupted with applause.

"It was never a prohibitionist," he said, "beginning with me. I am a convert. To-day we are facing through a great crisis, and I make my appeal because I have the conviction that the Dominion has been fifteen years in Parliament, and have had the privilege of voting on many great questions, but I believe, in the shadow of the great struggle now going on, that this is the greatest and most far-reaching action in its history."

It was not Mr. Maclellan at this time to cut out every wasteful friend's argument, and I think I can leave it at that," commented Mr. Thompson.

Nothing else Canada could do as a war measure would, Mr. Thompson believed, at all equal the splendid patriotic results of enacting the measure proposed.

Mr. C. C. Thompson, Durham, spoke strongly in favor of the resolution. He was glad a change had come to Parliament since the disastrous fire. He had made a thorough search to satisfy himself, and had found that the only beverage to be secured on the frontier of the west was fairly water. (Cheers.) He hoped the members would all exert their influence to provide for the soldiers, and that the whole of the intoxicating liquor consumed within the precincts of the House should be electrified by the House by a slashing and eloquent protest against the sale of liquor in the House.

Let me tell you how it is that so many ridings voted in my district. I know what I am going to say will be repeated throughout my province and perhaps in the whole of Canada. If it means I am to be sent back into the House, I will do it. I am conscious of having done my duty by the people. The people have taken into the parish church before they went to the polls. They were made to raise their hands and swear that they would vote right for local option. Then they were marshalled to the polls and compelled to cast their votes in open voting under the eye and in the presence of the Church authorities. That is the reason why the soldiers returned. Mr. William Weichel, Muskoka, discussed the proposal very dispassionately. He summed up the arguments by the advocates of prohibition or total prohibition and said that he thought it real prohibition and I am with you, he said, half prohibition and I am against you. Mr. Borden's support it.

REAL PROHIBITION OR NONE.

Hon. Jacques Bureau, Three Rivers, urged total prohibition or nothing. If it were to be an offense to import, manufacture or sell, he thought it should also be an offense to have intoxicating liquor in possession or to offer it to others or consume it. "Make it real prohibition and I am with you," he said, "half prohibition and I am against you."

Mr. A. Maclellan, P. E. I., moved the adjournment of the debate. Hon. Mr. Borden undertaking for the Government to its day upon which the debate could be resumed and a vote on the issue reached.

Parliament will take up Sir Wilfrid Laurier's resolution calling for an investigation of the Shell Committee, tomorrow.

PROVINCE WAS SUB'S VICTIM Survivors Tell of the Swift End of the Transport And the Terrible Privations of Those Saved.

Paris, March 6.—That the French auxiliary cruiser Provence, which was sunk in the Mediterranean on February 24 with the loss of over 2,000 troops, was the victim of a torpedo made plain by the story told by one of the survivors, who, in part, has reached here.

"Every man would have been saved," says the survivor, whose name he refused to give, "if it had not been for the human position of the ship. The human position of the ship was such that the ship could not be saved. The ship was hit by a torpedo, and the ship was sunk. The ship was hit by a torpedo, and the ship was sunk. The ship was hit by a torpedo, and the ship was sunk."

FAIR WAGES

And Eight Hour Day Demanded by Labor Men.

Richard Riley, representing Hamilton District, No. 24, International Association of Machinists, attended a meeting in the Temperance Hall, at 14 Broadview, at which were present 150 members of Trade and Labor Councils and local unions of the Niagara Peninsula. The meeting was called to discuss the demand for a minimum wage of $1.00 per hour, and a resolution was passed in which the present wage on record was increased in favor of the construction of the building, with the demand that in the contract a clause be placed relative to an eight-hour day and union scale of wages. Dr. Muscare, M.P., stated that he would place the demand before the House.

Very Thoughtless.

Goddard had not set far as the golf course, but he got for a three-foot putt. Only those who have played golf know what an important moment this was for Goddard. He was in the middle of a putt, and he was in the middle of a putt, and he was in the middle of a putt.

RAILWAYS AND PROSPERITY Freight Rate Question From A New Point of View.

Roads Must Make Profit or They Cannot Live.

The necessity of fair treatment for the railways is urged in an open letter just addressed to the railroad commission by Dr. J. M. Head. The refusal of a commission to allow a railway a fair return for the work it accomplishes in moving the produce of the country is an act which tends to deprive the whole prosperity of the community, says the writer, and no one speaks from the point of view of the man who actually pays the freight charge.

"The recent trial of the railroads of the state of Texas for the offense of wanting an increase in freight rates sufficient to permit them to live, and prosper has been conducted since the acceptance of the evidence presented by the prosecuting attorneys who have for the purpose of the case made up the record, and writes Dr. Head, in this letter, which is published in the "Railway Age Gazette."

"I find one very important factor out of account, and that is the man who actually pays the freight. In the taking of evidence in the case, no one has been asked to represent the man who actually pays the freight. No one has been asked to represent the man who actually pays the freight. No one has been asked to represent the man who actually pays the freight."
